

NOW AND THEN

We secure special prices on different lines of Dry Goods by taking large quantities that cannot be equalled when bought in the regular way—in fact at times these special offerings have been sold by us for less than we have been able to buy them for under ordinary circumstances. These specials, purchased so advantageously, we consider our best advertisement. Here are a few of them we especially recommend for your consideration.

SPECIALS

275 HOMESPUN LINEN ABSORBENT TOWELS, TWO FOR 25c.—These are for the bath and general use more desirable than a Turkish Towel and in the highest degree absorbent. Are 19 inches wide and 38 inches long.

1900 YARDS OF ELITE BATISTE AT 6 1-2c A YARD.—This is, no mistake, the best value in Wash Goods we shall be able to offer this season. Come in beautiful figured and floral designs. Usually sold at 8c and 9c a yard.

WOMEN'S 18-INCH LEATHER FINISHED GLOVES, 50c A PAIR.—Perhaps the best recommend for this value would be that in one day we sold over one hundred pairs. They are eighteen inches long, finished to imitate leather and come in black, white, tan and slate. We have just received two hundred and sixteen pairs in black and white from back orders, so we have all sizes again, but don't put it off if you want a pair, for these will soon be gone.

Lightning Superstition.

The ancient Romans avoided places struck by lightning. The houses if damaged were pulled down or fenced in so that no one could use the building on which the gods had set the mark of their displeasure. This feeling was probably deepened by the fact that certain localities are visited by thunderstorms more than others, the wrath of Jove descending in white flame time and again in the same spot. And it was the same superstition, lingering among Christians in a slightly different form, which made it so difficult for Benjamin Franklin to introduce the lightning rod, for the pious Americans of that day declared that "it was as impious to erect rods to ward off heaven's lightning as for a child to ward off the chastening rod of his father."

The Wood in Old Violins.

The woods most favored by the old masters for violin construction were pine, pear, lemon, ash, maple and sycamore, and by some of the later men apple was used. Boxwood was universally employed for bridges.

Hawels says, "A perfectly harmonious marriage is as rare between violins and their bridges as it is between men and women." He deprecates the heartless substitution of new bridges for old ones and insists that a new bridge will never mate perfectly with an old violin, and rather than resort to substitution he advises patching and repairing the old one as long as it can be made to last.—Circle Magazine.

Nonsense Literature.

I believe it was De Quincey who said, "None but a man of extraordinary talent can write first rate nonsense." He was right. And he might have added that none but a man of extraordinary taste can fully appreciate first rate nonsense.—Japan Times.
